We wish to submit an original research article entitled: Evaluation of Medication Use Patterns among Geriatric Patients using World Health Organization Prescribing Indicators for consideration in Pharmacology and Clinical Pharmacy Research (PCPR) journal. We confirm that the manuscript does not contain elements of plagiarism.

In this study, we evaluated medicine use pattern among geriatric patients at a primary care facility in Bandung, Indonesia, using WHO indicators. This research was conducted using cross sectional design with retrospective data collection. We found that the medication use pattern in this study was below the WHO requirement. This finding called for a strategy to promote rational prescribing of medicines.

We believe that this manuscript is suitable for publication by Pharmacology and Clinical Pharmacy Research (PCPR) Journal.

We have no conflict of interest to disclose.

Thank you for your consideration.

Yours sincerely,
Irma M. Puspitasari
